About Our Presenters

Jeff Bowman, Senior Horticulturist-The Dawes Arboretum, has been interested in plants, landscaping, and art starting at a young age. He went to the Art Institute of Pittsburgh and the Agricultural Technical Institute in Wooster Ohio majoring in Landscape Design, Construction and Contracting. Jeff had a variety of landscaping Jobs in his earlier years, and has been at the Dawes Arboretum working for over 30 years. He started as a Gardener, Curator of the Japanese Garden, Horticultural Technician, Curator of the Conifer Collection and Senior Horticulturist. The Dawes Arboretum, located in Newark, includes nearly 2,000 acres of plant collections, gardens and natural areas.

The afternoon presentation will be designs by the Creative Arrangers Guild. The overall theme for the design program is "Let It Snow." Individual designs might feature ice-skating, hot chocolate, plum pudding, forest, sleigh bells, roof tops, snow angels and more. Members of the Creative Arrangers guild who are likely to design are (L.-R.) Barb Snyder, Dotty Haney, Pat Rupiper, Debra Turner, Debby Colvin, Karen Ciula, Jackie Lundberg, Cindy Kozakewich and Karen Hovey (Not Shown). The Creative Arrangers Guild meets mostly in Westerville, and its members come from various areas in and around Columbus.
